

Privacy Policy

We receive, collect, and store information you enter on our website or provide to us in another ways. This may include personal identifying information like your name, address, phone number, and e-mail address. We may use software tools to measure and collect session information, including computer and connection information, page response times, length of visits to certain pages, page interaction information, and methods used to browse away from the page – all of which are tracked anonymously. We only use this information to contact you so we may provide you with services you may request from us. We do not share your information with any third parties, unless you consent to such. We may store the information for up to eight years or longer to ensure our compliance with state, federal, and local laws; however at your written request, we will promptly delete your data consistent with legal requirements. If you have any questions or comments, or if you would like us to delete your personal information, please contact us at info@immlexlaw.com.

